The Hot Topics co-chairs are pleased to announce that Drs. Pamela Jeffries, Daniel Raemer and William Dunn have accepted our invitation to be the 2015 plenary speakers. William Dunn, MD, FCCP, FCCM, is Associate Professor of Medicine, and a Consultant in the Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota. Formerly he was the director of the simulation center and has a particular interest in systems integration and patient safety. Daniel Raemer, PhD is a principal faculty member and the Director of Research and Development at the Center for Medical Simulation in Boston and is an Associate Professor of Anesthesia at Mass General Hospital, Harvard Medical School. Pamela Jeffries, PhD,

RN, FAAN, ANEF, is a Professor in the School of Nursing and the Vice Provost of Digital Initiatives at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. Her work has been critical in shaping the use of Simulation in Nursing Education internationally. In addition to their influential work in simulation education all three speakers have served as president's of the Society for Simulation in Healthcare.

NYSIM Supports Simulation Education in Ecuador

These Ashuar women were given the opportunity to learn about safe birthing skills from an Organization called Jungle Mamas. During these simulations they used Mama Natalie mannequin's donated by NYSIM.

50,000 learners at NYSIM

Three and a half years since opening, NYSIM is on track to have its 50,000th learner visit in April, 2015. This is a remarkable achievement and shows the effort of our faculty members at CUNY and NYU to incorporate simulation into their curricula, the great effort on part of the NYSIM staff to make the Center accessible to learners of all levels and disciplines, and the commitment of our two great universities to quality education. Congratulations to all!!
